Renee Harris

Biography

Interested in pursuing illustration, Renee attended the Corcoran School of Art in Washington D.C. for foundation classes. She then transferred to The Art Academy of Cincinnati, in Cincinnati, Ohio, where she graduated with a major in painting and printmaking and a minor in illustration. She chose painting to learn more about applied color and printmaking for the process and result of the printed images. These disciplines ultimately help define her illustration skills and narrative imagery.

After college, Renee subcontracted for illustration jobs, while also working in galleries and frame shops. This combined training prepared her for the choice to pursue exhibiting in national galleries and high-end craft shows for over twenty five years. Renee remains open to artistic evolution and the results of positive, forward thinking.
